Fund Manager's Commentary

MSCI Singapore index continued its uptrend momentum in March 2024 with a 4.2% Month-over-Month (M-o-M) increase, in tandem with global equity markets. The focus in April 2024 will be Monetary Authority of Singapore's upcoming policy meeting given the sticky inflation trend.

Utilities, communication services and financial sectors outperformed while consumer discretionary, real estate and industrials sectors underperformed.

During the March 2024 Federal Reserve (Fed) meeting, the US Fed left interest rates unchanged as expected. The projection for the Federal Funds Rate implied 75 basis points (bps) cut by December 2024. The Singapore market's growth can be underpinned by an improving commodity cycle, the deepening of technology into industrial applications, and relative performance as a safe haven within Asia. In particular, we expect geopolitical tension and protectionism to be a characteristic of this decade, accelerating the need for energy and supply chain security. This would require higher levels of global capital expenditure. Industrial companies in Singapore, such as those in the shipbuilding and utilities sectors, are well positioned in the global supply chain to meet the demands of this increase in global capital expenditure, whilst Singapore's safe haven status can bear greater meaning amidst geopolitical uncertainty. The outlook for services linked to hospitality and tourism will stay robust, given the normalisation in international travel, return of Chinese tourists as well as large-scale events. In the near term, concerns over global economic slowdown and high inflation could weigh on global equity market performance, which could present an attractive entry point for Singapore market. A pause in interest rate hikes, the resilience of the services sector and the potential revival of the manufacturing sector are key re-rating catalysts for the Singapore market.
