Market and Credit Risks
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• You are exposed to market risk <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ Your investment may go up or down due to changing economic, political or market conditions that impact the prices of the bonds or other securities that the sub-fund invests in.</li> </ul> </li> <li>• You are exposed to credit risk <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ Credit risk, a fundamental risk relating to all fixed income securities as well as Money Market Instruments, is the risk that an issuer will fail to make principal and interest payments when due. yields for this added risk. Conversely, issuers with lower credit risk typically offer lower yields. Generally, government securities are considered to be the safest in terms of credit risk, while corporate debt, especially those with poorer credit ratings, have the highest credit risk. Changes in the financial condition of an issuer, changes in economic and political conditions in general, or changes in economic and political conditions specific to an issuer (particularly a sovereign or supranational issuer), are all factors that may have an adverse impact on an issuer's credit quality and security values. Related to credit risk is the risk of downgrade by a rating agency. Rating agencies such as Standard &amp; Poor's, Moody's and Fitch, among others, provide ratings for a wide array of fixed income securities (corporate, sovereign, or supranational) which are based on their creditworthiness. The agencies may change their ratings from time to time due to financial, economic, political, or other factors, which, if the change represents a downgrade, can adversely impact the value of the affected securities. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• You are also exposed to operational &amp; custody risk, and,</li> </ul>
Liquidity Risks
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• You are exposed to liquidity risk <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ Liquidity risk takes two forms: asset side liquidity risk and liability side liquidity risk. Asset side liquidity risk refers to the inability of a Sub-Fund to sell a security or position at its quoted price or market value due to such factors as a sudden change in the perceived value or credit worthiness of the position, or due to adverse market conditions generally. Liability side liquidity risk refers to the inability of a Sub-Fund to meet a redemption request, due to the inability of the Fund to sell securities or positions in order to raise sufficient cash to meet the redemption request. Markets where the Sub-Fund's securities are traded could also experience such adverse conditions as to cause exchanges to suspend trading activities. Reduced liquidity due to these factors may have an adverse impact on the Net Asset Value of the Sub-Fund and on the ability of the Sub-Fund to meet redemption requests in a timely manner.</li> </ul> </li> </ul>
Product-Specific Risks
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• You are exposed to environmental, social and governance (ESG) investment risk <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ The lack of common or harmonized definitions and labels integrating ESG and sustainability criteria at EU level may result in different approaches by managers when setting ESG objectives. This also means that it may be difficult to compare strategies integrating ESG and sustainability criteria to the extent that the selection and weightings applied to select investments may be based on metrics that may share the same name but have different underlying meanings. In evaluating a security based on the ESG and sustainability criteria, the Investment Manager may also use data sources provided by external ESG research providers. Given the evolving nature of ESG, these data sources may for the time being be incomplete, inaccurate or unavailable. Applying responsible business conduct standards in the investment process may lead to the exclusion of securities of certain issuers. Consequently, the Sub-Fund's performance may at times be better or worse than the performance of relatable funds that do not apply such standards.</li> </ul> </li> <li>• You are also exposed to efficient portfolio management techniques risk, emerging markets risk, risk related to some countries and specific risks related to investments in Mainland China, including changes in PRC taxation risk, risk related to Direct CIBM Access and risk related to investments in CNH share categories.</li> </ul>	Please refer to the Luxembourg Prospectus, Book I – Appendix 3 and Book II of the Sub-fund for further information on the specific risks of the product.
